THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1869.

The Hon. W. H. Seward.

A man who has occupied a front place in the greatest Republic, one of the greatest nations, in the world, and that, too, during the most critical period of its history, has just been in our midst. The reception extended to the Hon. W. H. Seward on Tuesday, by the British portion of this community, was as creditable to the authors as it was complimentary to the subject. Of all failings that of man-worship is, perhaps, the most unmanly; but we must discriminate between the mere weakness of man-worship and that respect due to great men. The demonstration on Tuesday was not offered to Mr. Seward solely on account of personal greatness or worth; but it was offered to him as, for the moment, representing a great and neighbouring nation, a branch, as he himself so well expressed it, from the same stock with ourselves, a branch of the great British race. Pleasing as are such occasions, the presence of Mr. Seward and his son Fred. irresistibly carries one back on the wings of thought to dark and bloody scenes of the past, Mr. Seward's intimate connection with which invests him with additional interest, and gives him a fresh claim upon the sympathy of every christian man. The reader will easily anticipate the drift of our remarks: The war was over. The terrible rebellion, which for four years had threatened the life of a great nation, was quelled. The great work of a greater even than Seward was almost completed, triumphantly completed. Mr. Seward, with, perhaps, larger experience and more practical knowledge of human nature, had repeatedly expressed to the President his belief that such a contest must be followed by an era of even darker hue—assassination! Acting upon this conviction, Mr. Seward stood at his post, prepared for sudden death. Mr. Lincoln was unwilling to contemplate the possibility of such a contingency, and, despite the reiterated solicitations of his faithful chief officer, continued to expose himself as in former times. It was towards the last of March that Mr. Seward received warning from abroad of plotting assassination. He resolved to place the subject before the President the very next day, and earnestly represent to him the necessity for greater caution. But the next day Mr. Seward was thrown from his carriage, and, his foot catching in the step, he was dragged for some distance, and so seriously injured as to render a complete dismissal of all thought on public matters necessary. His right arm was broken above the elbow, his jaw was fractured, and his whole system greatly shattered. Passing over that awful tragedy enacted in Ford's Theatre on the memorable night of the 14th of April, we find the more immediate subject of these remarks, nearly a fortnight after the serious accident above narrated, occupying a room on the third floor of his residence in Madison Place, fronting on President Square. And here we will permit the faithful historian to tell the thrilling story in his own language:—

"At a few minutes past ten—within five minutes of the time when the President was shot—a man, proved afterwards to be Lewis Payne Powell, generally known as Payne, rang at the door of Mr. Seward's residence, and said to the colored lad who opened it that he had some medicines prescribed for Mr. Seward by Dr. Verdi, his family physician, which he must deliver in person. The lad said that no one could go up to Mr. Seward's room; but Payne pushed him aside and rushed up stairs. He had reached the third floor, and was about to enter Mr. Seward's room, when he was confronted by Mr. Frederick W. Seward, the Secretary's son, to whom he made the same statement of his errand. He was refused admission, when he drew a pistol and snapped it at Frederick without effect; he then struck him with it upon the head twice, with such force as to break the pistol and prostrate his victim, fracturing his skull. Hearing the noise, Miss Fannie Seward, who was in her father's room, opened the door, into which Payne instantly rushed and, drawing a bowie-knife, threw himself upon the bed and made three powerful stabs at the throat of Mr. Seward, who had raised himself up at the first alarm, and who instantly divined the real nature and intention of the assault. Each blow inflicted a terrible wound, but, before the assassin could deal another, he was seized around the body by an invalid soldier named Robinson, who was in attendance as nurse, and who strove to drag the murderer from his victim. Payne at once struck at Robinson and inflicted upon him several serious wounds; but did not succeed in freeing himself from his grasp. Mr. Seward, the instant his murderer's attention was diverted from him, threw himself off the bed at the further side; and Payne, finding that his victim was thus beyond his reach, broke away from Robinson and rushed to the door. The colored lad in the lower hall had run into the street for help, and Miss Fannie Seward shouted 'Murder!' from the upper window. The assassin, on reaching the upper hall, met Major Augustus Seward, another son of the Secretary, whom he struck with his dagger, and on the stairs encountered Mr. Hansell, one of the Secretary's attendants, whom he stabbed in the back. Forcing his way through all these obstacles, he rushed down the stairs, and finding, to his surprise, no one there to oppose his progress, he passed out at the front door, mounted a horse he had left standing in front of the house, and rode leisurely away."

Editorial Notes.

Some interesting facts and appalling figures are exhibited by a recent official return laid before the British House of Commons. It appears that in England one death in every 28 is caused by violence or accident. In five years, 1863—7, there were about 75,000 voilent deaths, nearly 7,000 of which were suicides—a ratio of 1,200 a year who had leapt darkly into the future in utter despair of the present.

The people of this Colony have had a bitter illustration of the truth of that scripture which saith, "No man can serve two masters." Our Governors and our officials have a master in Downing-street, and they, or at least all under the Governor, are supposed to be public servants. How impossible has it been to serve both. What a miserable attempt have they made at serving the people who pay them so liberally for their services. The whole political superstructure of the Colony is on a false basis. A complete re-construction must take place, before either confidence or prosperity can be restored.

A ranting Protestant of motherland screamed, "Gladstone is the Devil himself, and Bright's very outward appearance proclaims him one of the frogs of the Apocalypse!" Upon this a London paper facitiously remarks. "The three frogs in the Apocalypse, if we remember rightly, come respectively out of the dragon's mouth, out of the beast, and out of the mouth of the fales prophet. Mr. Bright certainly did not come out of Mr. Gladstone's mouth, so he cannot be the one who came out of the mouth of the dragon. Perhaps Mr. Cobden was the false prophet, and Mr. Bright is the frog that came out of his mouth; but how his personal appearance identifies him with any one of these Apocalyptic frogs it is hard for ordinary men to apprehend."

The sum of £20,000 has been voted by the British Parliament for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon the coal-fields of the United Kingdom. The object of this investigation is two-fold: safety to the workers and utility in working. It appears that the annual output of coal exceeds 100,000,000 tons, valued at £24,000,000. As to the durability of the coal beds some interesting information has been evolved. The huge beds underlying the lands of Somersetshire and Gloucestershire, it is estimated, will, for a hundred years to come, yield a hundred millions of tons annually, a quantity sufficient to supply the national consumption, and Mr. Viven, who is conducting the investigation, is confident that when the whole coal region of England and Wales has been explored there will be found treasured up sufficient, as he expresses it for all time. The result of these investigations so far is hailed by the English Press as of the greatest possible importance, completely dispelling, as it does, an uncomfortable foreboding of possible exhaustion in that indispensible national resource.

GOLDSMITH'S WORK.—The progress of fine art manufacture in this branch of trade is strikingly exemplified in a little work published by J. W. Benson, of 25 Old Bond street, and of the City Steam Factory, 58 and 60 Ludgate Hill. It is enriched and embellished with designs (by Italian, French and English artistes) of Brooches, Bracelets, Earrings, and other articles, suited for personal wear, or Wedding, Birthday, or other presents, with their prices. Mr. Benson (who holds the appointment to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales) has also published a very interesting pamphlet on the Rise and Progress of Watch and Clock-making. These pamphlets are sent post free for two stamps each, and they cannot be too strongly recommended to those contemplating a purchase, especially to residents in the country or abroad, who are thus enabled to select any article they may require, and have it forwarded with perfect safety. *

THE WILLOWS.—The proprietor of the Willows has just completed a platform for dancing, at their grounds, measuring 30x40 feet. It is built between two gigantic oaks, and perfectly shaded from the rays of the sun; and in another enormous tree are seats for the orchestra, raised about 10 feet from the ground. The whole structure is very creditable to the enterprising proprietor, and the public have only to visit the Willows, on the Cadboro Bay Road, to become satisfied that it is the pleasantest place near Victoria to enjoy onesself. *

VICTORIA HOUSE.—Just received by Express, the New and Elegant Lace Scarfs, (Garde Francaise, Chevreuse and Incroyable), Real Lace Shawls, Irish Poplins, Glace Silks, Satins, Ribbons, Trimmings, Buttons, Flowers, Trimmed Sets, Lace Falls, Silk Serges, New Dress Materials, and a variety of Fancy Goods; also a complete assortment of Ladies' Skirts and Underclothing. *

QUICK TIME.—Express goods have been received at the London House which left London in May. They consist of the new Windermere, Loch Lomond, Killarney, and Baden Costumes, woven in one piece; Trimmings and Buttons of latest styles; Bonnets and Hats as worn this summer in Paris; Ribbons; Japanese Silks, and fancy goods. *

BOOK BINDING.—T. N. Hibben & Co. have, in connection with their Book & Stationary buisness, added BOOK BINDING, and the various branches connected therewith, and will add the mechanical parts, & material necessary for meeting the requirements of the Colony, guaranteeing, neatness, dispatch and satisfaction in all work entrusted to them. *

GUNPOWDER.

Sporting, Rifle, Cannon, Mining & Blasting,

Fresh from the Mills of

THE CALIFORNIA POWDER WORKS.

Extract from Report of Committee of Judges on Class 5 in the Sixth Industrial Exhibition of the California Mechanics' Institute, 1868:

Your Committee did not subject to proof the samples of powder exhibited at the Fair, but went to the different magazines, and themselves selected samples from packages destined for the trade.

The various samples thus obtained, embracing Sporting, Cannon, Musket, and Blasting Powder, were subjected to divers proofs, the chief of which, and that upon which we most relied, was with the "Eprouvette" mortar, charged with one ounce of powder and a twenty-four pound ball.

After many days consumed in careful experiments—time which we freely bestowed, because of the great interest felt in the question both by the competing parties and the public—and after careful comparison of the results obtained, we found that all the powder submitted to test was of excellent quality. We also found that the superiority, on the whole, rested with the California Powder Works, and therefore recommend an award of a gold medal to that company, and a silver medal to the Pacific Powder Mills.

Signed, JOHN J. HALEY,
HENRY J. PIPPY,

From Cariboo.

By Barnard's Express, which arrived from Cariboo yesterday, we have files of the Sentinel to the 10th inst., from which we compile the following brief summary:—During the week ending the 6th, the following were the principal yields:—On Williams Creek, the Flume co. 150 oz; Wilson co. 283 oz; Cornish co. 41 oz; Baker co. 116 oz; Caledonia co. 96 oz. Stout's Gulch, Taffvale co. 151 oz; Coombs co. 144 oz; Floyd co. 140 oz. Lightning Creek, Dunbar co. 150 oz. Harvey Creek was attracting attention, rich deposits having been found in an old channel, in the right bank. On Keithley's Creek, rich prospects had been obtained by the Cooper co., who got $46 at the bottom of their shaft. As Mr. Beedy and the Rev. Mr. Derrick were driving down to Van Winkle, the pole of the buggy broke, causing the horses to run away. Mr. Derrick was dragged for some distance under the buggy, and was considerably hurt, being laid up for a few days. Mr. Beedy escaped with slight injury. The Rev. Mr. Reynard was raising subsciptions for building a church. Several parties had responded very liberally.

The Seward Party.—Yesterday morning at half past nine, the Hon. W. H. Seward and his party, left on the steamer W. G. Hunt, for Olympia, with the intention of calling at all the principal Ports on the Sound. On Friday, the Hunt will convey the party to Nanaimo, where they will take the Active, for Sitka. Mr. Seward was accompanied to the boat by the Hon. Mr. Francis, the American Consul, and other gentlemen, members of the Reception Committee. A large number of people assembled at the boat, and on the wharf, to see the great statesman off, and many a hearty shake of the hand and cordial good-by were exchanged between the visitors and the citizens, the former expressing the warmest feeling of gratification and pleasure at the kind reception which had been manifested toward them by the people of Victoria; and they spoke also, in the highest terms of eulogy, of the beauties of our city and its surroundings. Mr. Pritchard presented to Mr. Seward, on the boat, a choice selection of fruits, consisting of cherries, gooseberries, white and red currants. The fruit was the production of Mr. Pritchard's garden, in the city, and for size and quality it was acknowledged by all who saw it, to be superior to any that they had ever seen on the Pacific Coast. A few persons belonging to the city went on the Hunt, to enjoy the pleasure of the round trip, among whom were the Rev. Mr. Somerville and wife.

Sunday School Pic-nic.—The St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School Children held their annual pic-nic in Medina's Grove, yesterday. The children and their teachers assembled at the school-room, at 11 a.m. and, forming in procession, marched to the beautiful ground selected for the occasion. A sumptuous luncheon was spread at noon, to which 135 children did ample justice. This interesting part of the ceremony concluded, they betook themselves to swings, foot-ball, and the various other amusements provided. About 3 o'clock the tables were again spread, and the result clearly demonstrated how the youthful appetites had been sharpened by play. Once more fun and frolic assumed universal sway, nor cease until the sun kissed the western waters of the Pacific, when a third attack upon Mr. Piper's excellent viands, and a fetreat to town closed the programme; and a more pleasant or successful pic-nic probably never was held in the Colony.

From New Westminster.—The steamer Enterprise, Capt. Swanson, arrived from New Westminster yesterday, at 12 o'clock, noon. She brought 16 passengers and a Cariboo express. Jas. A. Graham, Chief Factor of the New Caledonia District, H. B. Co.; Mr. A. Fellows and Mr. Coombs, of the Coomb's Co., Stout Gulch, came direct from Cariboo. They report heavy rains on the Creek, subsequent to the date of the Sentinel. There was no bank treasure by the express, but there was about $70,000 in private hands.

The Indians.—We are glad to learn that the Stipendiary Magistrate, the Hon. Mr. Pemberton, is about to act in conjunction with the Municipal Council, in making arrangements for settling the Indians on the Reserve. We would suggest that some three or four thousand dollars be appropriated in building small comfortable houses on the Reserve, and renting them at a low rate. This would not only rid the city of what has ever been a great nuisance, as well as tend toward the improvement of the Indians.

Cherry Creek.—Mr. William Armstrong leaves to-morrow on his prospecting tour to Cherry Creek, he will take with him two good men and an Indian. We are glad to see that there is a spirit of enterprise left in our too often disappointed merchants in regard to their liberal contributions in such matters, and it is cheering to think that in the present instance their hopes are not likely to be altogether vain.

Generous.—Capt. Blian, of Port Orchard, voluntarily bears the expense of the steamer Hunt, in carrying Mr, Seward and his party the round trip to Olympia and Nanaimo. Mr. Blinn, esteems the Colfax as a tug boat, but he would hardly deem her services a worthy presentation to convey his country's greatest statesman from Olympia to Nanaimo, on his present tour.

Disclaimer.—In reference to a passage which appeared in our Portland letter, alluding to an alleged conversation between Mr. Garesche of this city and G. F. Train, respecting Judge Needham. Mr Garesche desires us to state that he neither had nor sought an opportunity of seeing or speaking to the Prince of Humbugs during his late visit to Victoria, nor upon any other occasion.

Sanitary.—The City Council have intimated their intention of having all Indians, except servants, removed to the Indian Reserve, where houses will be constructed for them. All persons having any nuisance on their premises, are requested to have it removed at once.

Seward Drinks Fell's Coffee.—Before the Active left for Sitka a supply of Fell's justly celebrated Coffee was laid in. There is no doubt that after Mr. Seward's return to the East, Fell's Coffee will be all the rage at Washington.

An Oversight.—On Tuesday night, the proof-sheet of our "Editorial Notes" having been mislaid, the matter got into the form without correction; hence the numerous typographical errors in that department yesterday morning.

The Boxer Aground.—We are informed that information has been received by the Naval authorities on this station, to the effect that H.M.S. Boxer went ashore in the Straits of Magellan, and was not likely to be got off, at least for some time.

Criminal.—There were two cases before the Police Court yesterday. One was a case of assault with a knife, and the other was the watch gatherer Weiss. Both were remanded one day.

Civic Election.—An election as been ordered by the City Council, for a member to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Councillor Gibbs. The nomination will take place on the 29th inst.

For Nanaimo.—The N. P. T. Co.'s steamer Active, Capt. Dall, sailed for Nanaimo yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. She will coal there, and on Friday she will proceed with the Hon. Mr. Seward and party, to Alaska.

So Far so Good.—We learn that two of the School Teachers in the country districts have received the Government quota of their salaries for the expired part of the year.

Auction.—Mr. Lumley Franklin will sell to-day at his salesroom, Wharf street the schooner Nanaimo Packet with all her sails and tackle complete.

English Mail Summary.

Tuesday's mail brought English files to the 24th June. The English Mail of 19th says. The Queen still absents herself from London, and takes only a very occasional part in the customary State receptions and entertainments, which devolve in consequence upon the Prince and Princess of Wales. Her Majesty for some weeks has secluded herself at Balmoral, but has just returned to Windsor, with the intention, it is hoped, of according to the Viceroy of Egypt, who is expected to arrive in London on the 22nd of June, a more gracious reception then His Highness met with when he last visited this country in 1867. Then the Khedive was allowed to become the guest of a private nobleman; but on the present occasion Buckingham Palace is to be prepared for his reception. His Highness is said to have spent no less a sum than 600,00 l. in entertaining the Prince and Princess of Wales during their recent trip to Egypt, and although the Prince will no doubt be desirous of showing every attention to the Viceroy in return, it is quite impossible with his limited income, that he can do so satisfactorily, or be expected to undertake charges which should properly fall upon the chief of the State. The Saturday Review has a serious article on the subject, and expresses a regret, which is very widely shared, that it is "probably useless to hope that Her Majesty will remember on this occasion that she is Queen of England as well as widow of the Prince Consort;" but, continues the Review, "if the fact that she bears this twofold character could by any means be brought home to her, it might really exercise an appreciable influence on the reputation of this country abroad." The Government has rejected Mr. Fitzherbert's application for guarantee of a loan to New Zealand. Lord Granville's despatch on the subject has just been published for the House of Commons. Its purport is shortly this:—That the settlers in New Zealand went there for their own convenience and interest; that the Imperial Government followed them there, with protection, aid, and rule only for their benefit; and that the colonists have consequently no claim for assistance from the Home Government in any difficulty they may involve themselves in through their course of trading with the natives. The colonists asked to have the independent management of their own concerns and of the natives; their request was granted and the duty of protecting themselves against those whom they claim the right to govern followed as a matter of course. We fear that the colonists have little to expect from the mother country in the way of a direct subsidy or assistance, even in the event of difficulties such as those which have lately arisen in New Zealand, and which have excited general sympathy in this country. An important protest has been prepared against the policy of the Government. Lord Elcho, in a letter to the Times, has proposed, by way of solving the difficulty, that in disestablishing the Irish Church, the Bill should be so amended as to exempt Ulster from its operations; and that when the Irish Church ceases as an establishment, the Protestant Church of Ulster should be established in its place! During the discussion of the Life Peerages Bill there occurred an amusing little episode. The Right Hon. John Bright was present, and some merriment was excited by an allusion to the possibility that the right hon. gentleman might one day be offered a life peerage. Earl Granville, who followed the speaker, good-humouredly said, amid renewed laughter, that he had not time to go down to the bar to discover whether the eminent individual referred to was likely to accept a life peerage if it were offered to him. There could, however, be no objection to his elevation, even by the political party opposed to him. The Irish Church has at last found its Tyrtæus, but it has found a weeping one. "A Field Marshal" sent the following appeal to the John Bull:—"Pass this bill, or attempt to pass it with any amendments that would fail to leave it other than still fatally destructive, and we must listen for the angels keeping watch over the ark of the Constitution of the countay heard sighingly murmuring each to other, and with wings droopingly unfolding, sobbing out, 'let us depart.'" Mr. Disraeli has evidently only to adapt one of his old bonsmots, and go the country with a new, "I am on the side of the angels." His Royal Highness Prince Arthur returned from his tour in Scotland to the Ranger's House, Greenwich Park, on June 17. The Prince rejoined the Royal Artillery on the following morning, and was present on parade. His Royal Highness will proceed to Canada in the autumn, where he will be attached to the Rifle Brigade. On his return, in the following spring, he will probably join a battalion of the same regiment which will be stationed at Woolwich. A London evening paper of June 16 contradicts the statement that the object of Mr. Henry Powell and his brother-in-law's visit to Egypt is to obtain from the Viceroy sufficient force to enable them to mete out justice to the murderers of their kinsfolk." Their purpose is to obtain an adequate escort from the Egyptian governor at Massowah to proceed as near as practicable to the locality of the reported massacre, and to ascertain by personal inquiries on the spot the fate of their relatives. Should their worst fears be realised, they will wisely leave the punishment of the assassins to the only available instrumentality, the Egyptian forces, who are now on active service in that territory. On the other hand, should it prove that the unfortunate party are retained as hostages by the wild Basenah tribe, negotiations will be set on foot and every conciliatory means used to effect their liberation. Five gentlemen resident at Ealing have resolved to make, early in September next, a complete tour of the coast of England, Scotland, and Wales, on bicycles; and one of them has undertaken to preform on one day of the journey one hundred miles upon his velocipede, for a wager of as many sovereigns. The Queen having recently learned that one of the tenants on a property adjoining the Royal estate on Deeside had been obliged, in self-defence, to protect his crops from the ravages of deer by shooting some of them, at once expressed surprise and regret that any farmer should suffer from such a cause, and gave orders for the immediate erection of the fence necessary to prevent the deer passing from the Royal estates to his land. The death of Governor Seymour is noticed in the London papers. The following is the notice in the European Mail:—"On June 10, at Victoria, British Columbia, Governor Seymour died of exhaustion supervening upon diarrhœa, after returning in Her Majesty's ship Sparrowhawk from the North Coast. He was the brother of Major-General Francis Seymour, C.B., and had been indefatigable in his exertions to restore order and to promote the prosperity of the colony." A slave corvette, with 100 slaves on board, has been captured in the South Sea. The slaves have been released, and the vessel sent as a prize to Sydney. Australian papers state that his Royal Highness would leave New Zealand in May for Fijee, and afterwards visit Tahiti and the Sandwich Islands. He is to reach Japan in August, to visit China in September and October, Singapore and Fenang in November, arriving at Calcutta before the end of the year. In April, 1870, it appears, he purposes to be in Ceylon, at Mauritius in May, the Cape of Good Hope in June and July, and at St. Helena in August. News has been received that one of the missing boats of the Blue Jacket from New Zealand, burned at sea, has been picked up. There were only seven persons in it, and no mention is made of the 4000 sovereigns which were put into the boat when she left the Blue Jacket.
